POLITICAL UNION

THE ONLY THING THAT WILL SAVE CANADA FROM RUIN.

No Acknowledges a Leading Tory—The Liberals Favor Reciprocity, But See No Hope of Obtaining It, as the Tories Stand in the Way—Eadie and the Canadians.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A special to the Sun from Ottawa, says Premier Abbott is greatly concerned over the unmistakable sentiment rapidly developing in every quarter of the Dominion in favor of political union with the United States. Several of the most ardent supporters of the late Sir John Macdonald have become foremost promoters of the movement. A leader in Tory ranks said as much as he is disposed to make the admission there was no disputing that the only recourse to save Canada from bankruptcy and ruin appeared to be political union with the republic to the south.

He pointed out the failure of the Dominion government to negotiate trade relations with foreign countries, their missions to South America, Spain, Australia and the West Indies having proved signal failures, while the restrictions imposed by the United States upon Canadian exports promise soon to exclude Canada from those markets in which, up to now, 45 per cent of all the Dominion had to sell had been disposed of. Organizations in every section of the country are being completed to lay the case of "bankruptcy or annihilation" squarely before the people, and with what success has been shown by the reception the movement has met with at Windsor, Belle River and other points in western Ontario.

Dr. Brien, one of the leaders in favor of political union, said, when a member of the Dominion parliament just before the last election, that was an out-and-out annexationist, and would leave parliament to announce his platform. As a Liberal he did not desire to take the initiative step until he was free from his party and out of parliament, so that his action could not be attached to them. There are more than 100 seats in parliament protested, and within six months there will be from fifty to seventy-five elections, in which the question of political union with the United States will be an important issue.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

No Treaty Likely to be Negotiated Until the Present Tory Cabinet Falls.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Several of Canada's public men are quietly dropping into Washington with a view to ascertaining what it was that the reciprocity conference set for Oct. 13 was so suddenly dropped. The prevailing opinion among them is that our authorities believe there is no real desire to have any conference with the present Tory government of Canada, and that we are waiting a change of party power in Canada. This is the second conference which has been dropped, and the Canadian visitors want to find out if there is not some underlying cause for these repeated failures.

Thomas P. Gorman, editor of the Ottawa Free Press, is among the visitors. He called at the White House Friday and had a ten-minute talk with the president concerning the cause of delay and the attitude of the government toward Canada. The president assured Mr. Gorman that there was nothing in the postponement further than that it was not convenient to discuss the question at the present time. He had only good things to say of our northern neighbors, and, in a general way, expressed the hope that more cordial relations would be established between the two countries.

The Tories Blamed.

Notwithstanding this assurance, Mr. Gorman and his associates believe that the anti-character of the new Tory party now in power in Canada is the real cause of the failure to secure a conference. The ministers who have succeeded Sir John Macdonald entered into a compact, mostly against the United States which has long characterized the Tory party of Canada and the mother country. It is the recurrent fear of the Tories, which antedates the revolution. Public opinion in Canada has forced the Tory ministers to adopt a pretense of reciprocity, but it offends their loyalist view and is merely a surface effort toward kindly relations with this country.

How Long Will It Be.

The president and Mr. Blair fully appreciate this and are said to be waiting for the Tories to be turned out, as is confidently expected by public men here. With a Liberal government in power, pledged to cordial relations with the United States, there will be little difficulty in having the president and Mr. Blair arrange a conference with the Canadians. Mr. Gorman and his associates who are here, are among the most conspicuous Liberals in Canada. They have not only talked with the president, but with Senator Morgan, Roger C. Mills and other Democratic leaders. On all hands the expression is general that the fall of the old Tory bigots in Canada will remove the last obstacle in the way of extended trade relations between the two countries.

THE ERIE ACQUITTED.

The Blame for the Ravine Wreck Rests on the Conductor and Engineer.

KENT, O., Oct. 19.—Coroner Sherman's verdict in the inquest of the recent Erie wreck is out at last. He takes about 2,000 words to review the accident, and then sums the matter up briefly as follows: I find that Ernest Beigert, conductor of the freight, is guilty of gross carelessness in allowing himself to sleep while on duty, and also for allowing his train to leave the depot without the necessary passenger train being notified. He is further negligent in not noticing whether the passenger train carried signals or not. I also find G. E. Brown, engineer of the freight, guilty of carelessness in allowing his train before he got orders from the conductor, and in moving his train in violation of the company's rules, and in trusting entirely to his own judgment in the matter.

Ordered Not to Mine Coal.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17.—The officers of the United Mine Workers of America, have issued a circular requesting the six thousand river miners in the Pittsburgh district not to mine any more coal for railroad shipment. This order was precipitated by the officers of the organization on learning that the operators were filling the places of the striking railroad miners with foreigners. If the river miners decide to strike the entire Pittsburgh district, about twenty thousand men, will be on a strike.

POPULARIZING OUR CORN.

Colonel Murphy is Meeting With Much Success in Germany.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Secretary Russell, in receipt of a communication from Colonel C. J. Murphy, an agricultural agent in Europe on behalf of the maize industry, Colonel Murphy proceeded to Berlin, by the secretary's instructions a short time ago, in order to take advantage of the present shortage of the cereal crops of Europe by presenting to the attention of the German people and government the importance and value of American corn. Colonel Murphy writes most encouragingly, reporting his cordial reception by Minister Phelps and the readiness of that gentleman to forward his mission, and further states that he has been able to produce bread, composed in part of rye and part of corn, which has been highly commended by all those to whom samples have been submitted as a most satisfactory substitute for the ordinary rye bread in general use among certain classes in Germany, and this at a cost based on the present price of rye flour and corn meal in Germany, less than the cost of bread exclusively of rye flour and corn meal in that city. Should special concessions in the matter of tariff duties be secured from the German government, an Indian corn, the outlook for a large increase in our exports of that product to Germany would be promising.

MOLE ST. NICHOLAS.

Ex-Minister Douglas Describes It as the Squared by the People, and with What Success Has Been Shown by the Reception the Movement Has Met With at Windsor, Belle River and Other Points in Western Ontario.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Frederick Douglas, ex-minister to Haiti, delivered a lecture on Haiti Tuesday night at the Metropolitan African Methodist church in this city before an audience composed of the English delegates to the Commercial council. Mr. Douglas replied with feeling to the criticisms of his policy in the Mole St. Nicholas affair, and made the suggestion that if he had done any man an injustice in his story of the matter he stood ready to retract, but if driven to the wall, he said, he had it in his power to put before the whole world all the correspondence about the affair in a different light and light some gentlemen would not like to see.

He described the Mole as the Gibraltar of the Caribbean sea, and said the nation that would hold this stronghold would be mistress of the sea. Mr. Douglas denied that Hippolyte was a tyrant, and also defended the character of President Harrison whom he described as conscientious and humane, and whose advice to Mr. Douglas, when the latter went to Haiti, the speaker gave as follows: "Douglas, do all you can to help the Haitian people and persuade them to blot out as much as they can the reproaches leveled at them."

MOLTEN METAL.

Explosion With Serious Results at Findlay, Ohio.

FINDLAY, Oct. 17.—A serious accident occurred at the foundry of Beck, Johnson & Company, about 6 o'clock Friday morning, which resulted in the probable fatal injury of two men. The force was engaged in taking off a heat, John Stuehling and Henry Colby carrying about a vat of molten iron and pouring it into the various molds. While engaged at this one of the molds at which they were working exploded with a loud report, scattering the white-hot metal in all directions. Both men received the greater part of it. Stuehling being struck about the face and shoulders. The other man was badly burned about the chest. The burns are very serious ones, and the men were conveyed to their homes, where they are suffering intensely, with little hope of recovery.

TWICE AS MUCH SUGAR.

Obtained by the New Molasses Process as by the Old.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Secretary Russell has a number of samples of sorghum sugar, manufactured by a new process by which he says, about 500 pounds of sugar is obtained from a ton of sorghum cane. When asked what the new process is he said: "It is called the alcoholic process. Alcohol is mixed with the sorghum syrup, and after treatment the sugar is recovered by distillation, so that there is no appreciable loss. The sugar is nearly white, and it is strong in saccharine qualities, above 60 degrees. I have received a dispatch from Mr. Svenson, who has been trying the alcoholic process, and he says that about twice as much crystallized sugar per ton of cane can be obtained as can be obtained by the process heretofore in use."

WELL BEAT THE WORLD.

The World's Fair to Have a Tower Over 1,100 Feet High.

Rum Not Reduced.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—General Raum has not resigned from his commission as secretary of pensions, the report to the contrary notwithstanding. He has told the president, however, that should his resignation be desired at any time it would be forthcoming and has been assured that his administration was satisfactory and there was no desire to dispense with his services. It is likely that General Raum will retire from the pension office next month voluntarily and with the best wishes of the president. The general has become very weary of the attacks being made upon him personally.

ANOTHER LONG MARCH.

Made By An Old Soldier to Get His Pension Paid.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Oct. 17.—Henry McDonald, aged eighty-two, an old soldier of the late war, arrived here Thursday from Tennessee, barefooted and penniless, having walked all the way, coming to see Commodore Henry Palmer to get his signature to pension papers.

Deedless Regarding American Pork.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The customs committee of the senate met in session Thursday, M. Ribot, minister of foreign affairs, and M. Rouche, minister of commerce, were present. The committee was holding a hearing on the proposition for raising the prohibition on American pork, and to substitute therefore a duty of twenty francs. No determination was reached.

Java Firing Hotter.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—A dispatch to The Standard from Odessa says: Orders have been received here for the suspension of the operation of the anti-Jewish measures. Emigration from South Russia is diminishing.

WHITES VS. BLACKS.

A Coal Miners' Strike at Boyer, Ky., Blooded Season.

CENTRAL CITY, Ky., Oct. 15.—Indignations point to serious trouble between the white and colored miners at Boyer, a thriving mining town four miles south of this place, on the Owensboro and Nashville railroad.

It is the general rule with the men when there is not a regular run for the trains to be held back the first day for the work until all the others catch up with them. This is done that all may have an equal share.

Last week one idle day George Fitzgerald, Will Chandler and Sam Thompson, the well known white men, and Bob Chilton and O'Brien, the colored men, to fill the cars for trains.

Consequently the next work day, Henry Fought, the head driver, held each of them back until all the miners caught train. At this time the negroes laid in their complaint to Charles H. Hodge, the bank boss, and Hendrickson Fought, the driver, not to hold their turn back, but Fought refused to do this, saying he would call a meeting of the men to settle the matter. This he did.

The white men went into an agreement not to work according to general rule, but to stand in a line on a standstill, and it seems that very serious trouble, and probably bloodshed is imminent, as lives have been threatened.

A DELIBERATE MURDER.

An Owen County, Kentucky, Doctor Shoots a Neighbor.

GEORGETOWN, Oct. 14.—A fearful tragedy took place Saturday afternoon just over the county line, in Owen County, the particulars of which are about as follows:

Dr. L. Massey, who has been for several years a wealthy and reputable physician, living at Elmville, and who is a Vincent of the county, was the house of John H. Harker, a neighbor, and, calling for him, was informed by Harker's wife that her husband had gone to a neighbor's, to which he replied:

"Madam, you will never see your husband alive again," and, turning his back on her, he walked away.

About a mile from Harker's house he met him and his brother-in-law on the way coming from Monterey, Mass. He stopped them, and said to Harker:

"You have been lying about me, and I intend to kill you now."

Harker said: "I have said nothing about you except what I can prove."

Harker's brother-in-law begged the doctor not to kill the defenseless man, but to wait until he could get a lawyer.

He then turned and fired, killing him instantly. Massey then rode in the direction of Frankfort and is still at large, through officers are in pursuit.

It is rumored that a woman was the cause of the trouble.

FATHER WUYS IS DEAD.

The Head of the Kentucky Loretto Goes to His Reward.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 15.—The Rev. Father Francis Wuys, ecclesiastical superior of the Loretto, died at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning at Loretto, a convent in Marion county. Father Wuys was a native of Belgium, and the early years of his life were spent there. He arrived in America in 1853 and came to Loretto, being in charge of the Holy Cross, Chicago, and St. Vincent's congregations in Marion, Washington and Adams counties, always keeping his residence at the convent. He was a man of profound learning. At the time of his death he was sixty-six years old.

Christian county is holding her fair this week.

A number of cranks are wasting time trying to prove that Abe Lincoln was a spiritualist.

After November 1, Henderson people will have their mail delivered at their doors. There will be four letter carriers to do the work.

Nancy Hanks brought the handsome price of $50,000. Nancy is not a woman as the name indicates, but a "hoss."

A Washington dispatch bears the caption: Society's Vices. This probably refers to the apparatus with which taffy is made.

Attorney General Ilen Hicks has decided that twelve persons constitute a grand jury. Since the new constitution went into effect, the courts have empaneled but twelve.

The fight between the Governor and Secretary of State of Florida concerning the issuing of a certificate of re-election to United States Senator Call has been settled by giving Call the certificate.

The Railroad Commissioners are now paying their fine on the road as they travel over the State on an inspection tour, the result of the new constitution. Under the new law, no State officer can use a pass.

The Shelby County Farmers' Alliance wants the Legislature to provide separate passenger coaches for colored passengers. Such an action would unquestionably meet the approval of Kentuckians in general.

A well cultivated crop on well fertilized land, though of small dimensions, will pay better in Crittenden county than a poorly cultivated crop scattered over many acres. This is a point that farmers should remember.

Mrs. Anna Dodge, an inmate of the Butte, Mont., poor house, has fallen heir to a fortune of $8,000,000. The publication of this is not likely to cause a rush for the Crittenden county, Ky., poor-house, at least not while the report of Superintendent Asher, is still fresh in the minds of our fortune hunters.

Union county believes in good roads. According to the Local a poll tax of $1 and an ad valorem tax of 15 cents on the $100 is levied for road purposes alone. This is a commendable spirit, and we submit it to the consideration of the gully furrowed, rock browned, mud faced roads of Crittenden.

Tom Corbett may occasionally be defeated for one office, but after a few weeks' silence he turns up in another. He lost the position of Register of the Land office last May, now he turns up as clerk of the penitentiary at Frankfort. Like all first district men he is capable of filling with credit, any office, from coroner to Governor inclusive.

A few years ago all of Meade county and Louisville was wild about natural gas. The surface of the county was perforated with natural gas wells, and covered with natural gas stock companies, and the certificates of stock were more sought after than Uncle Sam's green back bills. Recently little has been said about the matter. The Courier-Journal of the 20th tells of the condition of affairs in these few words:

"And now that stock, with one exception, is not worth the rubber bands that hold the certificates together."

American ladies are pretty successful with ice-cream suppers and like entertainments for the purpose of raising funds for charitable purposes, but in this line of business the wife of the President of Mexico has won the laurels. She wanted some funds for the flood sufferers of Spain and instead of a fair, hop of ice-cream supper, with grub-bags, she gave a grand ball, and the money she raised was $100,000. The Courier-Journal says she raised $100,000.

The Frankfort Argus says and reports: "The grand jury will assemble this Monday at the county house, and we hope that an effort will be made to stop the sale of liquor in the city of Henderson."

It is the duty of the court to bring the matter to the attention of the grand jury, and it is their duty to see that the law is enforced. It is the duty of the grand jury to see that the law is enforced. It is the duty of the grand jury to see that the law is enforced.

Will the Princeton Banner, Madisonville Hustler, Muhlenburg Echo, Central City Republican and Central City Herald please deny or affirm the accusations in the following paragraph from the Owensboro Messenger:

"Prohibitionists are becoming heartier and more numerous in some of the back counties. Saloons, with open doors and regular bars, are conducted in Muhlenburg, Hopkins and Caldwell counties without serious molestation."

The Messenger is a reliable paper, but a categorical answer from the papers published in the locality referred to will be a good corroborative testimony in the consideration of the prohibition question which has been agitating the people of this section.

The Western Water Ways convention at Evansville last week, was largely attended and was largely attended and was an enthusiastic gathering of delegates from all of Mississippi Valley States. The meeting wound up with a long list of resolutions endorsing the action of Congress in making appropriations for the improvement of Western navigable rivers, and urging a regular systematic plan of appropriations for the improvement of these waterways until the work was complete. Many prominent men attended and doubtless the influence of this gathering will be run and felt in the River and Harbor bill of the approaching Congress.

The following is a result of the poll taken of the members of the grand and petit juries at their recent session at the court house, as between Col Powell and Mr. McClain, candidates for Commonwealth Attorney in this district. The poll of the grand jury stood: Mr. Powell, 12; for McClain, 2; non-committal, 2. The poll of the petit jury stood: Powell, 19; McClain, 3; non-committal, 2. Without attempting to predict the outcome of the race between these two gentlemen, or in any way expressing a present preference for either of them, we cannot help regarding the above poll of the two bodies of men as significant, at the least.—Henderson Gleaner.

According to new paper reports the commissioners of the sinking fund are at loggerheads. Gov. Brown, Attorney General Hicks and Secretary of State Headly are of one mind regarding certain appointments; while Treasurer Hale and Auditor Norman look through the other glasses, and a disruption may occur. The three first removed W. H. Ellis and appointed Col. Corbett, clerk of the penitentiary. Ellis was an appointee of Norman, hence the trouble. Norman resigned his place as secretary of the commission and Hicks threatens to resign his office and retire to private life. The Governor is strictly a "penny-rite" man when it comes to giving out the office, and we are not going to quarrel with him on that score. Another idea crops out in this matter, and that is, John Young Brown is Governor.

Applications to Gov. Brown for pardons, it is said, are numerous, and while executive clemency was extended to about a dozen persons, during the month of September, there were but a small per cent of the petitions that were rejected. To contend that no pardons whatever should be granted, is almost as unreasonable as to grant them indiscriminately. The necessity for the exercise of a pardoning power was very wisely recognized by the constitution makers, and the exercise in meritorious cases of that power by the person in whom it is vested is as much a duty as the exercise of any other function of government.

The following is an extract from the minutes of the meeting of the State Board of Education, held October 21 and 22. It indicates that an effort will be made to lead the people to examine and discuss certain matters having an important bearing on the public schools:

"Some time was occupied in a presentation and discussion of the State Superintendent's policy to consult the people through the various channels of County Superintendents, Trustees and other individuals favorable to educational progress, and through the State Press, as to the views of the people of Kentucky on the subject of the public schools."

1. The State Superintendent should make a tour of the State, visiting all the counties, and holding a series of public meetings, at which the views of the people should be ascertained, and the results of such tour and meetings should be reported to the State Board of Education.

2. The State Superintendent should make a tour of the State, visiting all the counties, and holding a series of public meetings, at which the views of the people should be ascertained, and the results of such tour and meetings should be reported to the State Board of Education.

3. The State Superintendent should make a tour of the State, visiting all the counties, and holding a series of public meetings, at which the views of the people should be ascertained, and the results of such tour and meetings should be reported to the State Board of Education.

ments of a progressive age and live teachers.

6. Uniform laws for schools (reporting to the State office) in cities of the various classes.

7. The prevention of nepotism and favoritism in the selection of teachers, by which efficiency is often sacrificed to partiality.

The members present all heartily concurred in Chairman Thompson's plan of formulating these propositions and laying them before the people in the manner suggested."

To Hang at Henderson, [Journal]

Robert Charlton, the brutal murderer of Minnie Haskins, is to meet the only just punishment for such a diabolical crime as the one committed by him. The verdict brought in by the jury yesterday afternoon, at noon, after but a few moments' absence in the jury box, is no surprise, but the news was received with gratification by both white and colored citizens. It pleased everybody to know that the law could occasionally vindicate itself by meting out capital punishment to a red handed murderer. Judge Givens will pass sentence on the prisoner on the 13th day of the term and will at that time fix a date for the hanging.

THE VERDICT.

"We, the jury, find the within named defendant guilty as charged in the indictment, and fix his punishment at death."

H. F. DADIE, Foreman.

On to Nashville.

It has been definitely decided by the Ohio Valley railroad to build into Nashville. The road has been in view for several years, but it has never assumed definite shape before.

The proposed extension from Princeton to Hopkinsville has already begun. Two roads have been surveyed, one by Gracey and Montgomery, and an upper route, east of the Princeton and Clarksville railroad. The work on the extension at the Hopkinsville terminus is well under way. Several miles of roadbed near the town have been graded and cross ties laid.—Courier-Journal.

To Hang for Killing His Father.

FALWERSVILLE, KY., Oct. 20.—Today the jury in the case of Logan Murphy, charged with killing his father, brought in a verdict of guilty and fixed the punishment at death.

Broke the Record.

STOCKTON, CAL., Oct. 20.—On a kite shaped track, the mare Sunol, trotted a mile to day in 2 minutes 8 and a quarter seconds, beating Maud S' time one-quarter of a second.

After the close of his present term in this city Judge Givens will begin an important term of court at Dixon. The term will be important at least so far as the King mob case is concerned. It is well-known that the Judge is very much opposed to mobs, and it is thought his instructions to the grand jury will be peremptory to investigate the case to the very bottom, and if possible, to indict every person who had any hand in taking King from the jail and in attempting to mob him.—Gleaner.

Elizabethtown is the home of a human prodigy that would attract attention in a dime museum. It is a 5 year old colored boy. Its body has not grown any since its birth, but its head is now considerably larger than an ordinary man's and is still growing.—Elizabethtown (Illinois), Index.

Lincoln's Face and the Artists.

Lincoln's features were the despair of every artist who undertook his portrait. The writer saw nearly a dozen, one after another, soon after the first nomination to the presidency, attempt the task. They put into their pictures the large, rugged features, and strong, prominent lines they made measurements to obtain exact proportions; they "retouched" some single look, but the picture remained hard and cold. Even before these paintings were finished it was plain to see that they were unsatisfactory to the artists themselves, and much more so to the intimate friends of the man—this was not who smiled, spoke, laughed, charmed. The picture was to the man as the grain of sand to the mountain, as the dead to the living.

Graphic art was powerless before a face that moved through a thousand delicate gradations of line and contour, light and shade, sparkle of the eye and curve of the lip, in the long gamut of expression from gravity to gay, and back again from the sublime to the comic. The man was not a man, but a miracle. The picture was to the man as the grain of sand to the mountain, as the dead to the living.

James Burton was introduced, and in substance said that he was one of the defendants, that he was not on the trail, but joined the party as they were going from Lexington to the session house; the other boys were going and went willingly; and everything that the accused was accountable to the law, he was accountable to the law.

CHARGED WITH RAPE.

THREE BOYS ON TRIAL CHARGED WITH A VERY GRAVE OFFENSE.

The Story as Told By the Girls and Boys.

There has not been a case on trial at the court house for many months that has attracted so much attention, and in which there is so much involved, as the one now in progress before County Judge Moore, sitting as an examining court. Some weeks ago Mr. N. W. Allen, a reputable citizen of Webster county, had a warrant issued charging William King, John Burton, James Burton and Philip Martin, sons of good citizens of this county, with detaining his two daughters against their will. Monday, when the case was called, three of the boys, Martin having left the country, were under a $500 bond. When the defendants appeared in court, the commonwealth was represented by Blue & Blue, and James & Moore, made a motion to have the defendants placed in the custody of officers, claiming that the offense with which they were charged was rape, and, according to the statutes, would not admit of bail. Monday was spent in arguing the motion, and the court decided with the Commonwealth, and the accused are in the custody of special bailiffs.

Tuesday morning the taking of testimony was commenced. The story as told by the eldest Miss Allen, was in substance as follows: "In company with my father and sister I attended a barbecue at DeKoven July 4. We left DeKoven on the O. V. train, expecting to get off at Sullivan, the nearest station to our home. When the train stopped at Sullivan, the coach we were on was not at the platform. Father told us to wait until the coach was pulled up to the platform before we got off; the train never stopped at the platform. We then made up our minds to get off with Emma Brightman, with whom we were acquainted. We were told that she would not get off at Blackford, but at Nunn's Switch, and we agreed to go on. When we got to Nunn's switch the train did not stop, and the boys then told us that Miss Brightman left the train at Blackford. We were then at a loss to know what to do, and the boys then said we could go on to Repton and go to Martin's house, where his sister was, and stay all night. We went to Repton, got off, and started, as we thought for Martin's, but were taken to a school house, where the boys claimed to be lost, and told us to go into the house, but we refused and were forced in. When inside, indecent proposals were made to us and we were asked to submit to the wishes of the boys. We refused and I was dragged from the house and my person violated by King, who had a pistol and knife, and in the scuffle that resulted from my refusal to leave the room, my arm was badly bruised and my hand cut. They told us that if we told what occurred there King would kill all the Allens. After being kept at the school house all night, we were taken to the train next morning and went home. As soon as we arrived we told father what had happened."

The younger Miss Allen stated she was sixteen years old this month and in the main told the particulars as stated by her sister, saying that the boys did not violate her person.

Mr. Allen and a number of other witnesses were introduced and gave corroborative evidence. Mr. Allen said that parties had come to him for a compromise, and offered him $400 to prosecute the boys. Kennedy, one of the parties who Allen said had approached him for the compromise, said that he offered Allen money, but said to the girls that the boys would give them $40.00 if they wanted any money. The witness also stated that Allen said he would have nothing more to do with it if the boys would say nothing about it.

THE BOYS' SIDE.

James Burton was introduced, and in substance said that he was one of the defendants, that he was not on the trail, but joined the party as they were going from Lexington to the session house; the other boys were going and went willingly; and everything that the accused was accountable to the law, he was accountable to the law.

John Burton said that he was one of the defendants and accompanied the party to the session house; the other boys were going and went willingly; and everything that the accused was accountable to the law, he was accountable to the law.

Chapel Hill.

Prayer meeting has been changed from Wednesday night till Saturday night.

Rev. J. F. Price preached an interesting sermon at the Chapel Sunday.

Lee Crue, of Ardmore, I. T., is at home. He was telegraphed to come on account of the illness of his mother, but found her dead when he came. He will return to the Indian Territory.

W. S. Hill wants it distinctly understood that the late edition at his house is a girl. Eight are all the girls Mr. Hill has. The rest of his children are boys.

Jim and Will Hill are having a large stock barn erected on their farm, which will, when completed, be the best and most convenient barn in this portion of the county.

A birthday party given by Charles Hill, on Friday night last, was one of the most pleasant occasions of the season. The crowd numbered about sixty, of whom, at least one-third came from Marion.

W. H. Adams, of Fredonia, was in our midst recently.

H. E. Dean is teaching a good school at the Chapel. Bob is one of Crittenden's most competent teachers. This is his second term here.

T. M. Hill, entertained a number of young men the other night, by letting them shuck corn. Tom generally furnishes employment for those who call upon him for amusement.

Albert Hughes has purchased a portion of Wyatt Hunt's farm and has moved upon it.

We would like to say something about the whiskey business, but some one might punch us in the back and say, "we will sue you for damages if you do." Laws are made and enforced now-a-days seem to be a little "personal."

Weston Clippings.

The steamboatmen and river men are looking blue. It is rather tough on navigation at the following degrees on the stage: At the Gahan bar crossing at this point, 2 ft. 8 in. Opposite Gahan's lard 2 1/2 cent. and at Caseyville bar as reported, 2-8 cent.

Mr. S. C. Hayner, (Monitor Shellman), was paying Fordistery a short visit Tuesday evening and returned here much pleased at the speed of the Tiddle Wink.

During the past week the conveyance trade was not at all gratifying to Dunby.

Mr. Well's family of Shelbyville, Ill., moved to this county last week to work with his brother J. J. Wells.

Prof. Rankins says that he has rolled fifty six pupils under his care.

"Can any one tell us who has raised any larger sweet potato than was raised by Mr. Chappell Nunn? It pulled down the scales at nine pounds and a half."

The prospect for a large pecan crop is very flattering in this section.

Mr. Littel (ie buyer) passed through this burgh one day this week en route to Shelbyville, Ill., in company with Mr. Smith, take up ties at all points.

Mrs. Jerry Rankin went to Uncle Abe Rankins Wednesday evening.

Mr. Jeff Bartley and cousin, of Henderson county, are visiting A. B. Rankin's family to see their cousin Lucy Bentley this week.

Mr. Patterson, of Tennessee, is visiting his uncle, R. Heath this week.

Caldwell Springs.

Since I see you have no correspondent from this section, I have concluded to send you a few notes: School is progressing finely, with an enrollment of 63 pupils. Classes have been formed in all the common school branches except composition.

On the first Sunday in November the protracted meeting will commence here. Bro. Gibbs will be assisted by brethren Hyde and Blackburn.

Farmers are very busy, and notwithstanding the extremely dry weather, are getting a good crop of wheat soon.

Mr. Will Cisdale is making some splendid sorghum hereabouts.

Mr. Albert Burt and family are visiting in this community.

Facts Worth Money.

I want to thank my friends and acquaintances for their kind wishes and prayers for me. I am feeling much better and am able to go about again. I am very grateful to all who have shown interest in me.

Not for Herself.

It gives some women a deep and almost oppressive sense of responsibility to be intrusted with the selection of a pair of gloves or a yard of ribbon for another woman. "It isn't for myself," said an anxious looking customer at the ribbon counter of a large dry goods store one afternoon when the clerks were busiest. "It is for myself. I should know exactly what I wanted and wouldn't waste any time over it. But—"

"Did you say dark or light green ribbon?" asked the clerk.

"She said dark, and yet not too dark, so I don't exactly know what to get. If I were going to use it myself—"

"How wide did you want it?"

"She said from two and a half to three inches, which is of course rather indefinite. It's for a friend of mine living in M—, and she simply wrote for a yard of dark green ribbon, from two and a half to three inches wide at from thirty to forty cents a yard, and I am puzzled to know just what to get. If it were for myself—"

"You didn't want satin ribbon?"

"She didn't say, and I don't know whether to get satin or grosgrain or watered ribbon, or ribbon with a plain, corded or picot edge, or what. Everything is so indefinite about it. If I knew what she wanted it for, or had some little hint to go by, or if it were for myself—but as it is, I'm entirely in the dark."

"I think, on the whole, I'd better write and get more definite information before selecting anything. Yes, that's what I'll do, and then I'll not make any mistake."—Youth's Companion.

A Thought Measuring Machine.

Dr. J. K. McKatell has constructed an ingenious apparatus by which he can determine, with a considerable degree of accuracy, the time it takes to think, and has experimented with many interesting results. He has shown that to see a piece of white paper and be conscious of the fact takes one-twentieth of a second; to take a picture takes one-tenth of a second; to see a letter of common print, one-eighth of a second; to see a full word, one-seventh of a second; to be able to judge between red and blue, one-thirteenth of a second.

He has also proved that to see some words and letters requires more time than others. By this same machine, with some added pieces of mechanism, the time of remembering can also be accurately measured. According to the learned M. D. and his curious little machine, it takes much less time to remember the name of a familiar word than it does the name of a letter, and we are all supposed to be very well acquainted with the names of the letters of the alphabet. This seems strange, especially when we take into consideration the fact that we can see the letter in less time than we can the word.

The name of the next month to come can be thought of in less time than that of the last. This machine also shows that sensations travel by the nerves to the brain at the rate of one mile per minute, much slower than has been supposed.—St. Louis Republic.

Value of Houses in England.

It may be gathered from the annual report of her majesty's commissioners of inland revenue that more than one-third of the whole annual value of houses and messages in England and Wales is to be found in London, and more than one-fourth that of the United Kingdom. The annual value for London in 1890 was $35,153,503, and for the United Kingdom $138,550,982.—London Tit-Bits.

All in His Power.

"Certainly. My contracts are always in my handwriting and they can never be read except as I want 'em to go."—New York Epoch.

Famous Fiction by the World's Greatest Authors!

A CHARMING SET OF BOOKS, EMBRACING
Ten of the Greatest Novels Ever Written
BY TEN OF THE GREATEST AUTHORS WHO EVER LIVED!

If you will study the biographies of the great authors of our day, you will observe that in most instances their reputations were made by the production of a single book. Let us now work that is really great—one masterpiece—emanates from an author's pen, and though his future efforts may be trivial in comparison, his name will live and his works be read long after the author has passed away. A well-known New York publishing house has issued in uniform and handsome style ten of the greatest and most famous novels in the English language, and we have perfected arrangements whereby we are enabled to offer this handsome and valuable set of books as a premium to our subscribers upon terms which make them almost a free gift. Each one of these famous novels was written by an author whose masterpiece—the great production that made his name and fame. The works comprised in this valuable set of books, which are published under the general title of "Famous Fiction by the World's Greatest Authors," are as follows:

EAST LYNN.
By Mrs. Henry Wood.
JANE EYRE.
By Charlotte Bronte.
JOHN HALIFAX, GENTLEMAN.
By Miss Melick.
ADAM BEDE.
By George Eliot.
THE WOMAN IN WHITE.
By Wilkie Collins.

LADY AUDLEY'S SECRET.

Teacher's Association.

In every teacher there should be a professional pride, stimulating him to improve himself and to elevate his profession. Certainly nothing can contribute more directly to this than meetings in which teachers meet and exchange their views on educational topics. Such is the idea of the Teachers' Association. Besides this exchange of opinion each teacher, occasionally, would be required to prepare on certain topics. This investigation of special subjects would develop and strengthen their minds. The teachers of the county should avail themselves of these means of intellectual development and professional training. Let us spend the first Saturday of each month in this way and see if we are not benefited.

The Grave Yard.

For months Marion people have been talking about a new grave yard. The necessity for one is conceded by all. I would suggest the organization of a stock company to purchase six or eight acres of ground, fence it suitably, lay it off in lots, drives, etc., plant evergreens, and sell the lots, agreeing to keep the grounds in order for a long term of years. North of town about 1/2 of a mile from the court house, on the Ford's Ferry road is a beautiful sight and I understand that it can be purchased at reasonable figures. Let a few enterprising spirits take hold of this and they can make a nice profit on the investment, besides giving the people a handsome permanent burial ground. It is the right distance from town, high and dry, and in plain view of the city.

Down and Out.

Having had six months experience in the grocery business and having thoroughly satisfied myself that groceries are selling cheap in Marion, I am now content to come down and out, but I want to thank the good people of Marion and adjoining counties for the liberal share of their patronage that we have been enabled to maintain, and hoping that my successor, John T. Pickens, will be enabled to enjoy a continuance of your trade. When you hear from me again come and see me, I will be in business in Marion inside of 12 months, if I live.

Your Friend,

J. H. MORSE.

About 800 pupils are on the Academy roll.

J. H. Morse has sold his interest in the Morse & McConnell grocery to John T. Pickens.

Haywood York was the only applicant for a pension before the medical examiners last week.

Mr. W. C. Turk has contracted to do the brick work on Carnahan's new brick building. Work will be commenced this week.

Judge J. P. Pierce has been appointed by Gov. Brown as a delegate to the Southern Road Convention, which meets at Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 29th.

Messrs. W. C. and C. L. Turk, of Terre Haute, Ind., are in the city. Mr. W. C. Turk is a brick mason and will bid on the house W. C. Carnahan is preparing to build. In 1886 he assisted in building the court house at this place.

The many friends of Mr. T. J. Cameron will be glad to learn that the disease which threatened to impair his health permanently, is yielding to the treatment of the physician by whom he is being treated at Louisville.

The public road from the Crittenden county line to Salem, is nothing like as good as the road from Marion to that line. Stir up those Livingston county folks on the road question. This is the story a citizen from the western part of the county related to us.

Mr. Pyker, of Dixon, is building a large business house at Blackford, and when completed will open up a $6,000 stock of general merchandise at that place. A building is also being erected for a drug store at that place, which indicates that Blackford is going to be no small factor in the business of this section.

The many friends of Mrs. L. A. Glascock will regret to hear of the serious illness of that esteemed lady. She is in the hands of her physician and her recovery is no longer hoped for. No lady has more friends in Marion and none more loved than Mrs. Glascock. She has been here for many years, and she is very near the hearts of the Marion people.

Mr. W. B. Moore, general inspector of agencies, United States Building and Loan Association, arrived in Marion yesterday, and is making buildings and loan stock to the people. His company is one of the best, which fact is attested by the rapid and solid growth. It has a loan bank at this place and the members here are exceedingly well pleased with their investment.

Now is the time to bring in your apples, I will pay you for them. Prices are more remunerative.

M. SCHWAB.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

Charles Carrick Found In a Ditch Dead.

Charles Carrick, a young man in his twenties, was found dead in a ditch near Providence Sunday morning, with the horse he had been riding over his body. His neck was broken and his thigh and shoulder crushed. Saturday night he was returning from Providence to his boarding place, a few miles from there, and was last seen by parties a short distance from where the body was found. Sunday morning, his friends, alarmed by his absence, went in search of him. The horse was found on its back in a ditch, and when it was removed the dead body was found. It is supposed in crossing the ditch, which was about three feet deep and about the same width, the horse fell, throwing the rider and then falling upon him. The ditch was but a short distance from the saw mill where Carrick was engaged.

A Good Shipping Point.

Saturday eleven car-loads of livestock were shipped from Marion to Evansville, Louisville and Cincinnati. Every week there are more or less shipments of this character from this place, and as a live-stock shipping point Marion is not far from the lead in Western Kentucky. The stock-pens and other similar facilities that were adequate a few years ago, are now not sufficient, so a prominent shipper tells us, and the railroad will doubtless make improvements as the business continues to grow. A great deal of stock from Livingston county comes to this place, and then Crittenden is shipping more than ever before in her history; each year more is being raised. Our hills and valleys bring fine grass and clover, and stock-raising is evidently the best paying department of agriculture in the county.

A Family Feud.

The Webster Citizen tells of the killing of John Brake, at Providence, on Tuesday of last week. In opposition to the parents of the young lady, Brake married a Miss Bell; after living together awhile the young wife was persuaded to leave her husband, and from this cause a bitter enmity grew up between Brake and Wm. Bell, brother of Mrs. Brake. After repeated quarrels they met at Providence and Bell struck Brake over the head with a club, crushing his skull which caused his death.

A Sudden Death.

On Friday, Charles Brightman and two of his brothers, of the Bells' Mines neighborhood, quit their work in the field and started for their house on the farm. Charles went one way and the two brothers the other. A few moments after the other two reached the house they heard the other calling them. When they reached him he told them that he had broken a blood vessel, and as the words passed from his lips, he died.

Miss Roe Chandler Dead.

Miss Roe Chandler died at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Carlwell, of this place, Monday morning, October 19, after an illness of several days. She was an most estimable young lady, a sterling member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Her pleasant ways made her many warm friends in Marion, who deeply regret her death. The remains were taken to Webster county for burial Tuesday.

Fire at Princeton.

On Friday night the flouring mill of R. W. Kenil & Co., was damaged by fire to the amount of $3,000. The engine room and much of the fine machinery was a complete wreck. By heroic efforts the fire was kept from the elevator, in which there was between fifteen and twenty thousand bushels of wheat. But few weeks pass without the addition of disasters of this kind to Princeton's history.

Will Move to Town.

Dr. A. H. Balt will move to town in a few weeks, and will be fully prepared to treat all diseases of horses. He insures all of his work and has given satisfaction to those who have lived for twelve years. To those suffering with rheumatism he invites to try his horse medicine, as he insures that cure.

To Organize.

Next Monday night a lodge of the A. O. U. W. will be organized at this place. Parties who expect to go in as charter members must put in their applications this week. The organization will be effected in the R. F. Hall.

Preaching.

Elder T. E. Richey, of Princeton, will preach at Post Oak Saturday night, October 21, and at 11 o'clock the Sunday following.

WANTED NOW—A carload of good, sound green apples. Come and see me before bringing them.
M. SCHWAB.

BROKE JAIL.

Brooks Deceives the Jailor and Escapes.

Friday night when Jailor Adams made his rounds to lock the prisoners in their cells, he looked through the iron bars at J. R. Brooks' bed and saw, as he thought, the occupant of the cell safe and sound asleep. Next morning when the officer went into jail, the cell was just as he left it, Brooks was not there. However, occupying his bed was a "dummy" made of bed clothes arranged so as to deceive a sharp eye, even in daylight. Search was made and a hole was found in the floor near the vault, and another through the outer brick wall of the building, both just large enough to admit a man's body. When the jailor looked the cell door Brooks was hiding in the corridor, where there the prisoners stay during the day, and after the officer was gone, he made his escape as indicated above. The jail floor is of quarter-inch sheet-iron; near the vault, the iron was corroded and so rotten that an iron-poker readily went through it; by heating the poker in the stove the small wooden sleeper was burned off; once under the floor the prisoner had no trouble in pounding a hole through the brick wall and making good his escape. Brooks was put in jail several weeks ago, charged with stealing a skiff.

Uncle Dick In Trouble.

Boyd Lynn, and Mrs. Mollie Williams, who were arrested and put in jail on a warrant sworn out by Dick Williams, were tried Friday and acquitted. They then immediately proceeded to square accounts with the doughty Dick by having two warrants issued for him; one charging him with beating and abusing his wife, and the other with giving liquor to Lynn's children. The cases came before Judge Moore Saturday, and it looks very much like Dick is going to get the worst end of the bargain.

Badly Injured.

While going from church at Hillsdale, Monday night, the horse which James Crider was riding fell and threw its rider to the ground injuring him dangerously. He was unable to speak for several hours. His injuries are internal, and time only will tell the result.

Marion Mattress Company.

A NEW MAN.

W. L. Smith Succeeds J. E. Brawner as O. V. Agent at Marion.

Tuesday Mr. J. E. Brawner, local agent of the Ohio Valley railroad, received a telegram telling him to be ready to transfer the office to the care and management of Mr. W. L. Smith. He telegraphed the answer: "All right," and on Wednesday the change was made. For four years Mr. Brawner has had charge of the office; during that time his work and deportment have been eminently satisfactory to the people of Marion. A few weeks ago a strong petition was sent to the company asking it to retain Mr. Brawner at this place. About all the business men in Marion signed that petition and were anxious for their prayer to be answered affirmatively. They realized that he was an honest, competent man, accommodating in his ways and trustworthy in every particular. And besides that he was a valuable citizen.

Mr. Smith, who has been located at Dawson, is highly recommended by his predecessor, and is known to be a capable railroad man.

Since the above was put in type, Mr. Smith concluded that there was too much work for the salary and he declined the position.

TWO KILLED AND FOUR INJURED.

Head-End Collision on the Panhandle Near Steubenville, O.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 17.—The Panhandle Express and freight train on the line between Steubenville and Mingo, Ohio, collided head-on at 6:15 o'clock Friday morning. Two men were killed and four injured.

The disaster occurred on the fatal ground between Mingo and Gould's station, where so many wrecks have occurred. The track at this point is about three-quarters of a mile long, and the road bed is too narrow to accommodate a double track in addition to the side track necessary at this point, so the company built interlocking double tracks in order to avoid switching with a cross-over switch at each end.

The passenger train had just entered the westbound track when it was met by the freight train and the two collided with a crash.

Both engines were wrecked and two or three freight cars were badly damaged. In No. 2 was a combination baggage, express and mail car, which was fire and was entirely consumed. William Marshall, brakeman, Columbus, O., and Joseph Vestner, Columbus, O., express messenger, were injured.

A. Stimpert, postal clerk, Cincinnati, O.; W. R. Keys, postal clerk, Trine, O.; W. S. Davis, postal clerk, London, O.; Robert McPherson, baggage master, Columbus, O.

McPherson was not badly hurt and came out on his train. The others were brought to Steubenville, and sent home on No. 9 from that point.

The cause of the accident is not exactly known, but it is believed that the engineer of the freight train was the one at fault, and that he was not properly protected that only one train can be on it at a time.

INTO THE DITCH.

Wreck on the Baltimore and Ohio—Two Killed and Many Injured.

PORT WATKINS, Ind., Oct. 16.—Train No. 8 of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, which left Chicago Wednesday at 10:20 a. m., met with a serious accident at 2:31 p. m. at Hicksville, O., twenty miles east of Garret, Ind. The train consisted of the engine and tender, baggage car, smoker, ladies' coach and private car of Vice President King, and the freight train left the track, and the sleeper, ladies' coach and the private car went over an embankment. The smoker and baggage car hung onto the engine and were kept on the track of the road. Two passengers were killed, four were seriously injured, and several were slightly injured.

Thomas Watson, of Bridgeport, Ohio; A. G. Mathers, of Doon, Ia.

W. W. Grubbs and wife, of Mansfield, O.; Mrs. Sarah Snyder, of Porter, O.; Mrs. Thomas Waterston, of Bridgeport, O.

Miss Rhoda Woodall, of Buffalo, New York.

Vice President King was well shaken, but is otherwise unharmed. He sustained injuries from slight bruises to broken limbs.

CABINET CRISIS.

Ministerial Trouble in the Government of the Argentine Republic.

Buenos Ayres, Oct. 16.—Since the announcement of the rupture of the coalition of the Mitre and Roca parties, it has been known that there is a cabinet crisis. Two of the ministers have already resigned.

The cabinet summoned to consider the merits of candidates for the presidency demands the formation of a new ministry representing all political parties. It is stated that General Mitre intends to retire from political life, and that he is about to start for Europe. General Mitre's resignation of his presidential candidacy is irrevocable.

THE SWOOP OF A HAWK.

EXPERIENCE OF A SUMMER VISITOR IN A NEW YORK SUBURB.

He Had Heard About a Hawk Chasing a Man, but Didn't Believe It Until He Encountered One of the Animals in a Lonely Evening Walk—How He Tells of It.

Mr. Rogers was late for tea. The red twilight of August had faded, and a sea breeze was rattling at the shutters before he came in, looking warm and agitated. Seeing him roused out of his usual calm excited our curiosity, but we asked no questions till he had eaten and refreshed himself. Then we gathered around him.

"I have had a most unpleasant adventure," he said in his solemn way. "I have been chased by a hawk." Now, if a child of six had made that remark it would have been touching, but for a broad shouldered person of any number of feet to announce that he was afraid of hawks was too much for our sense of humor—we laughed. "What did you do?" asked the inquisitive member of our house party. "I clapped my hands and shouted," said Mr. Rogers, "but the hawk didn't mind at all; it kept circling round my head and swooping down."

We reasoned with him. We said it was physically impossible for a hawk to fly away with him. We told him the next time a hawk chased him to fall flat upon his face and call for help. We suggested that a plump mosquito had caused his alarm. All in vain. He listened without emotion, and fixing his eye on me as the most obtrusively merry person present, said, "Wait till a hawk is after you; you won't like it."

AN EVENING WALK.

The meaning in his words came to me a few days later. We had been bathing in Peconic bay. We staid there, splashing and swimming, till the blue water turned gray and the sun went down in a red sunset. Then suddenly we felt an overpowering doubt to get out of our clammy bathing suits and home to tea as fast as possible. I decided to wait. I was cold; besides I rather wanted to get away from the noisy crowd.

So the house party packed itself into the wagonette and quickly disappeared down the winding road, leaving me to wait across the hills alone. (Funny with what alert people who are really fond of you leave you behind.) I felt very much alone and lonely, and I almost wished I had gone with them. Our house is only a mile from the Peconic beach on a level line, but as the Peconic coast hills are like so many green dumplings one's progress is very up and down, and a mile may be twisted into astonishing lengths.

I strode across the fern-scented hills at a rapid pace, one moment on top of a mountain range, with a view of the two bays, the next down in a hollow with only bay bushes for a horizon. I stopped at a sort of cup to watch the coming night. The earth sent up a warm, sweet smell; little stars began to twinkle as though peeked into the sky. Something dark started up under my feet.

MY SHADOW, FOR THE MOON HAD RISEN.

"It is nice to be alone sometimes," I thought. "One can't be intimate with nature when crowds of people are about. I feel more that I am living on her bosom than I do when I am alone."

Whirled from the sky. Then two short sounds like the flapping of a wet towel. DISCREETION AND VALOR.

I looked up. Right over my head, poised as neatly as the sword of Damocles, was a hawk. It looked quite stationary, but I remembered Mr. Rogers' words, and I felt bold. "The thing doesn't seem inclined to swoop," I thought. Then I started up a hill, with my nose pointed at the hawk. Just as I reached the top it gave two flaps and swooped. I clapped my hands. Whereupon the bird circled and dropped a few feet.

"I won't encourage it by looking at it," I walked to the next hill, looking at it in a dignified manner. Then I looked. That brute of a bird was hovering in an expectant attitude. As it caught my glance it began to circle; it circled till I grew dizzy; then it gave a cry of triumph and swooped. That action denoted that it was about to swoop. I turned the hawk into a roc and me into a pygmy.

With one "Swoop" of despair, I threw my hands and feet to the winds. I ran as hard as I could, up hill and down. Branches caught at my blackberry vines clasped my ankles; but once mounted on terror nothing could stop me. My white flannel figure shone out in the moonlight, adding zest to the hawk's attacks. On we raced, swooping, running, dodging, but never stopping till the friendly lights from the house streamed out to meet us. Then the hawk, with a long cry of scorn, sailed away to the pine woods in the west.

The house party was on the piazza as I came up. "Glorious walk," I cried. "I ran half the way. Finest sport in the world after bathing!" Mr. Rogers followed me into the house. "It's awful when it swoops, isn't it?" he said, with a look in his brown eyes. —New York Post.

KING PATRICK THE FIRST.

A Wicked Savannah Sailor Who Has Become an Oriental Potentate.

Twenty years ago Patrick O'Keefe was a comparatively poor man, making his living as a sailor on small vessels, coasting between Savannah and neighboring ports. Today he is a king. He is the owner and absolute ruler of the island of Nymph, in the Australian group of the Pacific, almost in the heart of the tropics. He would probably be still a resident of Savannah and a poor man, but for two tragedies in which he figured as one of the principals.

In 1867, as the story is told by an old sailor, he was mate of the schooner, the Sine, which plied between this city and Darien. On the schooner was a young Irish sailor named Sullivan. He and O'Keefe were apparently good friends, but secretly Sullivan was plotting to murder the mate and take command of the schooner. The latter, however, was not so easily duped, and he and Sullivan had a fight. Sullivan got the best of it, and O'Keefe went to his quarters, and secured a doctor to attend to him. The latter, however, was not so easily duped, and he and Sullivan had a fight. Sullivan got the best of it, and O'Keefe went to his quarters, and secured a doctor to attend to him.

The latter, however, was not so easily duped, and he and Sullivan had a fight. Sullivan got the best of it, and O'Keefe went to his quarters, and secured a doctor to attend to him.

A CHORUS.

A chorus was the superintendent of the equipment and instruction of a chorus. The Athenians made him a state officer, and the position became one of importance and dignity. The term chorus was in the course of time used to signify a person who supplied the costs for any purpose. —New York Weekly.

Crucially to Lobsters.

It is singular how the cruel practice of boiling lobsters alive continues. Our forefathers, and, indeed, our parents—let calves bleed slowly to death, on the theory that in no other way could white meat be secured, and later on calves were bled one day and killed the next. Now every one knows that a calf can be killed in a humane manner and the real meat just as good. Hogs are largely killed by electricity instead of by the old barbarous method; and, generally speaking, animals that are killed for food have been put out of the way in a much more humane manner than formerly. But lobsters are still tortured out of existence, the only difference being that, while formerly they were exclusively boiled to death, now some are boiled and some broiled. Which process causes the most agony no one can say. —St. Louis Globe Democrat.

THE BRONCHOS.

The genuine broncho pony is a wonderful product of our western prairies. He is the great friend of the Indians and the invaluable companion of the cowboys, from whom he has received his various descriptive terms of the "clucking broncho," the "humping broncho" and the "stubborn broncho." These terms have become so closely associated with the pony that one can hardly imagine the existence of a broncho minus all of these negative virtues. Yet when kindly treated they make staunch friends, and unless provoked to it they will hold their bad qualities in reserve until some stranger comes near them. —New York Epoch.

NOTICE.

All parties owing me will find their notes and accounts in the hands of R. E. Perkins. Please call on him and settle. I will be absent some time. G. C. Gray.

To the Tax-Payers of Crittenden County.

My appointments to meet the taxpayers of the county are now out and I have given all an opportunity to pay their taxes before the per cent was added, which will be done on Nov. 1. I urge upon all who have not paid to call before that date and pay, for I am compelled to settle with the state at that time, and I will be compelled to add the percent on every person who does not pay before that time. While I dislike very much to do so. Take timely notice and attend to this and oblige your friend. A. L. Cruce, S. C. C.
